Management report

Macroeconomic environment and financial markets in 2024

While many experts and market players debated the risk of a US recession for many months in 2024, it has to be said that the US economy proved highly resilient, and it was more the "no landing" scenario that prevailed in 2024. Consumption, which accounts for almost 70% of US GDP, remained highly resilient, buoyed by a dynamic job market.

Europe experienced a weak growth environment, penalized by tightening financial conditions, weak Chinese demand and geopolitical and political uncertainties. The two largest economies appeared very weak, with the German economy in recession for the second year running, and the French economy showing only a brief improvement in service sector activity due to the Olympic Games effect. In both France and Germany, political uncertainties further weakened economic confidence.

For its part, the Chinese economy has achieved exactly the 5% growth target for 2024 set by the government, thanks to the stimulus measures deployed since the summer (lower interest rates, consumer subsidies, support for local authorities). These measures were necessary to achieve the government's 2024 growth target, given the weakness of domestic activity. However, the structural difficulties of the Chinese economy continue to emerge, with a fragile property sector, low inflation and rising unemployment.

Continued disinflation has enabled central banks to begin the process of monetary easing. The European Central Bank (ECB) was the first to act, cutting its key rates by 0.25% in June, followed by three further cuts which brought the refinancing rate to 3.15% in December. The Fed, for its part, took action in September with a 50-bp cut in its key rates, considering that the risks were more balanced between achieving its inflation target and supporting activity, bringing the Fed Funds rate range down to 4.25-4.50%.

In this environment, volatility was fairly high on the fixed-income markets, as investors had to "recalibrate" their expectations regarding the pace and extent of monetary easing. The eurozone bond asset class performed well in 2024, with monetary easing and corporate default rates remaining very low. The tightening of risk premiums reflected solid corporate credit fundamentals. The Iboxx Eurozone Sovereign index gained 1.76%, investment-grade credit bonds were up 3.78% and the high yield segment was the most dynamic, with a performance of 6.88%. At the end of the year, however, the election of D. Trump to the US presidency caused a sharp rebound in US and, to a lesser extent, European long rates, due to a program raising new inflationary risks (tightening customs duties, tougher migration policy).

Equity markets experienced a major episode of volatility in August. The VIX index exceeded the 60 level (compared with a historical average of around 20), leading to a sharp fall in equity indices due to mixed corporate results in Q2, which triggered profit-taking on technology stocks. This decline was amplified by technical factors (unwinding of JPY carry trades linked to the BOJ's decision to raise interest rates). Overall, the equity markets, and more specifically the US equity indices, benefited from the resilience of the US economy, monetary easing and the strong momentum around Artificial Intelligence.

Furthermore, the election of D. Trump in November with a "pro-business" agenda (tax cuts, end of restrictions on oil and gas drilling, banking deregulation) has largely favored US assets. Thus, in 2024, equity indices posted solid performances: MSCI World in USD +17%, SP 500 in USD +23.3%, Nasdaq in USD +24.88%, Eurostoxx 50 +8.28%. The CAC underperformed, penalized by political risk, and above all by its exposure to luxury stocks, which suffered greatly from the slowdown in Chinese demand.

Within our bond allocation, we favored a positioning on short-intermediate maturities to play the yield curve normalization. The risk did not seem sufficiently rewarding on the long end of the curve, and in fact, over the year as a whole, long-term benchmark yields did not fall (German 10-years rose from 2.05% to 2.33%, French 10-years from 2.6% to 3.32%). We overweighted investment-grade credit as we considered this segment had the best risk return profile and diversified our exposure to a few highyield issuers.

Regarding our equity exposure, we maintained close to neutral levels throughout the year. We occasionally increased our equity exposure in August, when equity markets corrected, through the use of futures contracts. We favored US equities, with an overweight in the IT sector, and more specifically in AI technology providers such as semiconductor companies and enablers (cloud computing, datacenters). We maintained luxury goods equities in our allocation, considering that the compression of valuations offered new entry points from a medium- to long-term perspective.

Outlook 2024:

Overall, the economic context remains favorable to risky assets, with economic growth holding firm and inflation volatility tending to ease.

Bond market outlook

Disinflation and sluggish growth should enable the ECB to pursue monetary easing. For its part, the Fed made it clear at the end of the year that future decisions would be conditional on inflation trends; there is less urgency for the Fed to cut its key rates than for the ECB.

We will continue to expose ourselves to the short end of the curve, given the scenario of further rate cuts by central banks. We remain more cautious on the long end of the curve, which could experience greater volatility depending on the measures announced by the Trump administration and their inflationary impact, as well as on significant fiscal refinancing needs. Fundamentals remain solid in the investment-grade credit segment, with a level of carry that remains attractive. Anticipated default rates remain low (default rate in Europe according to Moody's at 2.7% over a 12-month horizon), but we remain selective within the high yield universe.

Equity market outlook:

Earnings forecasts for 2025 support the asset class, and equity markets could also be buoyed by central banks cutting interest rates while leading economic indicators are mostly in positive territory.

Growth projections could argue for a continued decoupling of performance between US and non-US assets, but as Citigroup's Economic Surprise Indicator shows, there is no complete desynchronization of economic cycles. Growth in the eurozone is admittedly sluggish, but the upturn in productivity (admittedly three times lower than in the USA) may offer hope of renewed growth.

Despite high valuations and inflation risks, US equities are benefiting from pro-growth policies with the arrival of the Trump administration, in an economic context underpinned by dynamic consumption and massive investment in Al. Bullish earnings revisions are expected with tax cuts and the buoyant momentum of Al.

European equities could benefit from an improving macroeconomic environment, with consumer support and continued monetary easing. Investor positioning is weak in this asset class, and the valuation discount is high.

Independent auditor's report

To the Shareholders of Lucelen 14, boulevard Royal L-2449 Luxembourg

We have audited the financial statements of Lucelen (the "SICAV") and of each of its sub-funds, which comprise the statement of net assets and the statement of investments and other net assets as at 31st December 2024, and the statement of operations and other changes in net assets for the year then ended, and the notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the SICAV and of each of its sub-funds as at 31st December 2024 and of the results of their operations and changes in their net assets for the year then ended in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Law of 23rd July 2016 on the audit profession (the "Law of 23rd July 2016") and with International Standards on Auditing ("ISAs") as adopted for Luxembourg by the "Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier" ("CSSF"). Our responsibilities under the Law of 23rd July 2016 and ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF are further described in the "responsibilities of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" for the audit of the financial statements" section of our report. We are also independent of the SICAV in accordance with the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants, including International Independence Standards, issued by the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants ("IESBA Code") as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities under those ethical requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other information

The Board of Directors of the SICAV is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report but does not include the financial statements and our report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report this fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the Board of Directors of the SICAV for the financial statements

The Board of Directors of the SICAV is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements, and for such internal control as the Board of Directors of the SICAV determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Board of Directors of the SICAV is responsible for assessing the SICAV's and each of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors of the SICAV either intends to liquidate the SICAV or any of its sub-funds or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Responsibilities of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Law of 23rd July 2016 and with ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Law of 23rd July 2016 and with ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the SICAV's internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Board of Directors of the SICAV.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors of the SICAV's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the SICAV's or any of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé". However, future events or conditions may cause the SICAV or any of its sub-funds to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
